LOCAL NEWS.

Banana leaves pressed make material for elegant book marks.

Messrs. Huestace & Robertson have lost a horse valued at $350, by a common equine dissembler.

The arrivals at the Hawaiian Hotel yesterday were Messrs. R. Halstead and G. R. Halstead, of Wainuku, Oahu, and Geo. Glendon, of Pahala, Hawaii.

The proverbial saying that there's always room at the top does not apply to the head of a column of advertisements. That is why newspaper foremen become prematurely aged.

This is prayer meeting night in the several churches. The Bethel Union service in the Lyceum will be preparatory to the communion next Sunday, and include an address by the pastor, Rev. E. C. Ogget.

Mr. W. E. Herrick has made a handsome curio in his line, a calabash fashioned after the old native style. It is of koku highly polished, and the cover has an inlaid disk of koku, with a ring of some white wood round it.

King Kalakaua and Governor Dominis were banqueted at the Hawaiian Hotel on Monday evening, by Mr. J. H. Ward and Mr. J. R. S. Lake, of New York, a large company of local notables being present by invitation.

Mr. Robert Grieve was on Saturday last presented with a handsome silver pitcher, suitably engraved, by the owners and employees of the Gazette. The occasion was his retirement from the management and chief ownership of that office. It was a deserved compliment to a veteran printer and master of the craft.

Hon. Curtis P. Iaukea has been appointed His Majesty's Chamberlain vice Col. Hon. Charles H. Judd, resigned. The former also replaces the latter as Commissioner of Crown Lands and Land Agent. Other official changes are mentioned as having been made, but waiting a convenient time to be proclaimed.

The residence of Col. C. H. Judd on Punahoa street has recently been painted, in a style that makes it show to material advantage over its former appearance in flaring white. The new tint is a pinkish gray, the pretty effect of which is a strong rebuke to the fashionable sombre colors in vogue for house painting.

There are two handsome wedding cakes on exhibition at Mr. Hart's Elite Ice Cream Parlor. They are for the marriage feast of Mr. Oliver Sullivan and Miss Molteno, who are to be united at the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Thursday evening. The work was done by hand in the fancy bakery on the premises, and the figures and flowers are very pretty.

The first subscription paid the DAILY HERALD is that of Mr. A. Wenner. Accidentally hearing, at the lunch table in Nite's, that it was starting, his hand dived for a half dollar on the instant. May he live to be proud of the paper. Mr. Dillingham, hearing Mr. Wenner thanked for the first money paid into our exchequer, made up for being only second by taking a two months' risk. Prosper colonization.

The S. S. Australia, of the Oceanic line, sails for San Francisco at noon today. The mail closes at 10 o'clock, after which the double rate for late letters is charged. Passengers were booked as follows up to the closing of the company's office last evening: Mr. and Mrs. E. Bage, E. D. Tenney, S. J. Levey and wife, R. E. Halstead, G. K. Wilder, E. A. Jones, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, 4 children and nurse, G. J. Waller and wife, J. Marsden, C. W. Ashford, and G. W. Roseman.

Mr. T. M. Henderson, who for the past two years has been in the dispensing department of Messrs. Hollister & Co.'s drug store, will leave for Vancouver, British Columbia, shortly, to carry on the business of a druggist with a brother from Montreal. As Vancouver is the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Henderson may count on growing up with the place to opulence. He has made many friends here by his pleasant disposition, and has been an active and useful member of the Bethel Union congregation, so that he will be much missed.

Officers McKeague, Mehrtens and Marcos have been removed from the police force. Mr. Horace Crabbe, formerly night keeper, takes Mr. McKeague's place as day keeper. A new night keeper has not yet appeared. Mr. E. Hopkins, who has for two years been on special service under the Marshal, has been given the position vacated by Mr. F. Marcos. Mr. J. Kaubane, who distinguished himself by his brave conduct in arresting the Chinese desperado, Chun Hook, last March, receiving a reward therefor, has been given the position hitherto occupied by Mr. Mehrtens.

Plunder Found.

Two weeks ago the house of a resident of Palama was plundered in broad daylight, in the absence of the family. As a gang of Reformatory school boys were working close to the premises that day, without anybody looking closely after them, suspicion pointed to that institution. The Deputy Marshal was notified promptly on the discovery of the robbery, and sent an officer to the school to investigate the business. Capt. Jackson, Principal of the institution, at first received the officer graciously, as he also did the loser of the goods and his brother, who shared to a slight extent in the loss. All three were sitting in the office, while Captain Jackson mustered the boys in the back yard. In a few moments he returned, enthusiastically declaring: "I have them all right now. Come this way." The invitation was accepted, under the full impression that the thieves had been detected and the plunder recovered. After looking into a room that the Principal assured the visitors had been locked for weeks, the yard was reached, where about two-thirds of the boys were marshalled in line. Capt. Jackson asked the officer, Mr. Fellbehr, to search the persons of the lads. The officer replied that he had no authority to search them, and, besides, that there was no use in feeling the boys' pockets for several suits of clothes and a travelling valise. Then the captain invited the owners of the stolen goods into the clothes room, where they were asked to search among stacks of clothes and look into all the trunks. In answer to a question he said the room had been locked all day, the key in his pocket, and then he was asked what was the use of searching in that case. Upon this he flew into a passion, ordered everybody off the premises, threatened the officer with prosecution for daring to enter the place without a search warrant, and hurled volleys of coarsely abusive language at the other men.

Mr. Dayton and two officers went to the institution the next day and hunted all over the grounds for the goods without success. Captain Jackson, it is said, has been telling people that it was a put-up job by the occupant of the plundered house and his brother lodging with him. This absurd story has been put to confusion, however, by the discovery of a portion of the plunder buried under ground in a banana patch on the Reformatory School premises. Mr. Bennett, a white assistant at the institution, made the discovery on Monday last, and the police being notified took the articles to the station. A silver hunting-case watch was recovered, but its gold chain was not. The coat of a new suit of clothes, two complete linen suits, and miscellaneous garments, were also found, but mostly ruined by damp and mildew. The valise, a new one bought at Sachs' last March, was discovered broken and buried in a heap of filth. The only mystery that remains in the matter is which of the boys were concerned in the robbery, unless it may be deemed mysterious why the Board of Education allows the institution to be such a growing menace to surrounding property.

Police Court.

On Monday last an exceptionally disgraceful occurrence culminated in the punishment of the chief actors. Two or three weeks previously a man named M. Gartone fell into bad company and was shamefully abused. He was only fit, after hospital treatment, to appear in court on the day above-mentioned, to give evidence against his assailants. Joseph Ryan had to pay $31.80 and give a bond of $100 to keep the peace for a year; and George Patterson, $28.60, with a bond of $50 for the same purpose. The same day Ryan was fined $29.20 for assault and battery on Sam Gourley.

On the civil side, Antonio de Tray failed in two suits for $200 each against Mary Adams. Yesterday Henry Brown went into durance vile for one week, as a result of excessive fondness for the bottle. Edmunds, for similar folly, went over for ten days, while Olaf Charleson and Kalusi got off with a commutation fee of $6 each. Emily Kamakahi deserted her husband and was ordered to return, after depositing $1 of her pin money to support the police establishment. It cost Wainee $10.50 for some fun that disturbed the quiet of a Honolulu night.

Island News.

Some news from the other islands, received the first of the week, is important enough to have value at second-hand. Mr. Williams, a Swede employed as a teamster on the Paauhau plantation, was almost instantly killed on Thursday last, by the accidental discharge of a fowling-piece. A Japanese laborer at Lahaina, and a Chinaman at Olowalu, committed suicide, the former on Wednesday and the latter on Saturday of last week. A very pleasant and successful concert was given at Kilauea, Kauai, Aug. 14, in aid of the funds of the church ministered to by Rev. J. B. Alexander. The choir from Anahola church, the Misses Mahoe, the Garstin Bros., and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mache, Jr., were among the chief contributors to the entertainment, which was attended by over 200 people.

Take the DAILY HERALD and make your mornings pleasant.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY.

This week nothing of startling importance has taken place in the proceedings of the Legislature. The most important action is undoubtedly that on the $2,000,000 loan bill, passing the principal provisions of the measure on second reading. Hon. A. S. Clegg, horn, Noble, made a forcible argument to reduce the amount by one-half. The Ministry, however, succeeded in making the house believe that only so much money would be borrowed under the Act, as would be required for public improvements sanctioned by the Legislature. Of course, any works not receiving legislative sanction in advance can receive it at the next session, after the money has been spent without any bothersome restrictions of law—provided always, that the kind of Legislature for that sort of work be forthcoming. Still, if the present Ministry remains in power throughout the period, it is not improbable that the Loan Act will remain a dead letter, for reasons which we may discuss later. Suffice it to say that the skillful Ministerial legerdemain of Saturday last is pretty generally understood in the community, when taken in connection with the tortuous course of the Premier on the loan business. The Hayselden contract items, for bridges at Wailua and Waimea, Kauai, have been inserted in the Appropriation Bill, notwithstanding that the works were shown to have been founded in the shifting sands and carried away in a reshet. An item of $6,613.50 was also inserted for the relief of the Crown Commissioners, who blundered in leaving the premises known as "Honolulu Hale" when they did not belong to the Crown. A fancy item of $5,000, to be disbursed by the Marshal—for telephones for the police and expenses of sheriffs in looking after deputy sheriffs—would not go down with the house and was discreetly withdrawn by Hon. J. L. Kaulukou, the Marshal in person. S. H. Meekapu was granted $150 for encouragement of his skill in relieving lepers by means of a native herb cure. If all that was stated of his success was true, the gratuity was small enough. A subsidy of $2,500 was granted to Judge Forannder's philosophical and scientific treatise on "The Polynesian Race." Mr. Thurston has introduced a bill to authorize and regulate special partnerships, and Mr. Hayselden one to amend the law relating to auctioneers. A heavily signed petition was received from North and South Kohala, praying for the removal of Dr. Thompson and the appointment of Dr. Bond in his place, as Government physician. On Friday last a clause was inserted in the Oceanic Steamship Company's subsidy bill, making the condition that bananas be carried by steamers of that line for fifty cents a bunch. This was reconsidered yesterday forenoon and the figure changed to 55 cents by the casting vote of the President. A motion to change the subsidy from $1,500 to $1,250 per round trip was defeated by 19 to 12.

INCIPIENT FIRE.

An incendiary at work in the Business Center.

A few minutes after one o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in Lewers & Cooke's lumber yard in rear of their store. It was discovered by Mr. Blanchard, printer, who saw the glimmer from the door of the Advertiser office on Merchant street, just as he was about to start for home. Just afterward he saw a man running up through the yard and escaping in the darkness. Mr. Blanchard called out "Haul in," and quickly rushed to the spot through a gate on Merchant street, and found a bottomless barrel on top of a pile of broken boxes, with a lot of straw and other inflammables burning inside of the barrel. He rolled the barrel down to a clear space and stamped the fire out, assisted by policemen and others. Word was promptly transmitted to the Station House and the Bell Tower by Mr. Wray Taylor, of the Advertiser staff, but the fire was stopped so quickly that it was not necessary to sound an alarm on the bells.

Fancy Skating.

There was a large attendance at the Yosemite skating rink last night, to see the final performance of Mr. Aginton, the fancy skater who had appeared in the same place on two or three previous evenings. Three acts of fancy skating were given, each one delighting the beholders with the grace, agility and skill of the performer. His rapid gyrations and evolutions almost made one giddy in watching them, and only the theory that his brain was injured to the whirlwind motion could account for the preservation of his balance. The beginner's and the duds' acts were highly comical and well sustained. The spread-eagle floundering in the one, and the lah-de-dah get-up and exquisite taking off of the modern dandy in the other, made merriment enough for anything. Mr. Wall is to be congratulated on having secured such an attractive variation of the bill at the Yosemite. The champion skater returns to the Coast by the Australia.

Mr. McInerney does not scare worth a cent at the tocsin of war, but paints the town black with a challenge to all the belligerent hosts of clothes dealers. His advertisement is the first received in the HERALD office, as well as one of the very biggest.

TRADE POINTERS.

Making ice cream by steam is done for the first time in Honolulu by Mr. Horn, at his Pioneer Bakery and Candy Factory. The product is a peculiarly delicate and delicious article, which has in a few weeks attracted a nightly throng to the parlor.

Mr. Hilder, proprietor of the Central Cigar Stand, believes in printer's ink and likes good neighbors, hence makes haste to give his business a position in the columns of the HERALD. He carefully studies the tastes of customers, and can suit the most fastidious.

A good chance to invest in plantation property is presented in the offer at auction of the East Maui Plantation advertised elsewhere by E. P. Adams & Co.
